About Us

Mine site ready. Community trusted.

Pilbara Ecological is a locally owned and operated environmental consultancy, established in 2018. Based in the Pilbara, we deliver science-backed ecological services that help industry, government and community clients manage land responsibly and effectively. Our relationships with local stakeholders are central to everything we do.

We've built our reputation on reliability and science-backed solutions that stand up in the field. Recognised as the local specialists for ecological services in the Pilbara, we're trusted by major operators and local communities alike.
